

Charles McCray Elected Health Board President

By DAVE AMEY

Charles McCray was elected president of the Pickaway County Board of Health Tuesday night during the yearly reorganization meeting.

McCray, who served as vice-president of the Board, received the unanimous nod of his fellow board members. Dr. Paul Fenstermaker had served two terms as president.

Richard Christenson was elected vice-president and Dr. Frank Moore was given unanimous approval as Health Commissioner.

The remainder of the lengthy meeting was punctuated by a myriad of problems concerning the sanitary disposal of sewage in the county.

The Health Board voted to draft a letter to the owner and developer of the Murphy Mart store in answer to sewage and storm water cross-complaints with adjoining land owner Harry Clifton.

Clifton, who owns the 1150 N. Court St. home beside the store, and his attorney, Bob Huffer, appeared on orders of the board who were seeking a solution to the problem.

After discussion, it was decided to inform Murphy Mart owners of the meeting by the letter and ask them to contact either Huffer or Clifton for further deliberations. The possibility of lifting portions of the building freeze imposed in Ringgold was discussed. However, further action was delayed pending closer inspection of a soil map of the area, which is expected to be received in several months.

Indications, according to environmentalist Hugh Barnhill, are that some portions of the one-mile radius may not be critically underlaid with high bedrock.

The freeze on new building was imposed by the Board of Health when a concentration of high bedrock was discovered in Ringgold. Sanitary sewage systems and leach fields cannot operate properly on such ground.

The Board did allow a prospective Ringgold homeowner to install sanitary facilities to an existing house by means of a variance. Barnhill found that leaching could be accomplished on the land, and noted that an existing dwelling was to be used.

A home sewage system in Washington Meadows was declared a nuisance by the Board, which also ordered the owners to have the problem corrected within 30 days.

Effluent is apparently leaking from the system onto the ground and threatens to contaminate a recreational pond in the subdivision.

Harry Trego was granted a conditional permit to install a home site sewage system on land he owns on the Ashville Pike. The decision to allow the curtain drain was based on information supplied by the Soil and Water Conservation office.

The Board also decided to give Charles Pritchard permission to install a home site sewage system and construct a house on the South Bloomfield-Royalton Road despite the possibility of flash flooding in the area.

The permit was granted on the condition that Pritchard was warned of the possibility of flooding.

Benjamin Kanipes, a property and homeowner on the Brooks-Miller Road, was also present at the meeting to complain about the handling and processing of his sewage permit.

The Board of Health learned from Sanitarian R. Thoburn Blaney that both the city and county scored well above the state average on a recent restaurant inspection conducted by the Ohio Department of Health.

Food service operations in the county scored 91.95 per cent out of a possible 100 per cent on general cleanliness and operation of their businesses. The city scored 89.5 per cent.

Average across Ohio was between 85 and 87 per cent, he said.

Health nurses informed the Board that they have been actively involved

Penn Central Dissolved; Local Tracks Abandoned

166 YEARS OF SERVICE — These five Penn Central employees, working a switch engine crew at the freight station yard on Ohio St., have a combined total of 166 years of service with the Penn Central system. They are, from the left, R. L. Wills, 34 years, conductor; Robert Willison, 35 years, flagman; T. E. Joyce, 34 years, fireman; Kenny Glick, 34 years, engineer; and H. M. Bigham, 29 years, brakeman.

7 Railroads Reorganized

WASHINGTON (AP) — When seven financially weak railroads are merged into a new government-backed railroad today in the largest corporate reorganization in U.S. history, such well-known railroads as the Penn Central and the Erie Lackawanna will cease operating.

The other carriers whose names will disappear are the Reading (of Monopoly game fame), the Central of New Jersey, Lehigh and Hudson River, Lehigh Valley and the Ann Arbor.

Taking their place is a railroad known as Consolidated Rail Corp., or ConRail, a private corporation supported by a government investment of nearly $2.1 billion. ConRail will be the largest railroad in the nation in terms of revenues and the second largest in terms of route miles.

A special three-judge federal reorganization court began signing the numerous legal documents necessary for the takeover Tuesday and was scheduled to complete its work today. The actual change of ownership was to take place at midnight tonight.

However, legal battles are expected to continue for several years over the value of the property taken over by ConRail.

The reorganization will complete more than a year and a half of government planning and substantially change the pattern of rail freight service in 17 states in the Northeast and Midwest.

The new railroad will own a slimmed-down route system 17,000 miles in length. It also will operate its trains over another 3,100 miles of uneconomic routes under federal and local subsidy agreements. About 3,000 miles of track now owned by the seven carriers will be abandoned.

In addition, 19 private railroads and several states in the Northeast and Midwest have purchased sections of track owned by the seven ailing railroads and will start operating those new routes Thursday. Conrail will employ about 100,000 workers, or nearly one-fourth of all railroad workers in the United States. The seven railroads had about 103,000 employees.

The new railroad's planner, the U.S. Railway Association, is predicting a bright future for the new corporation and says the line could have a large and favorable impact on the nation's economy.

SRA, a federal agency created to plan and oversee the reorganization process, has predicted ConRail will lose $332 million in its first year, compared with the $500 million annual losses sustained by the seven carriers.

It says ConRail should turn a profit of $36 million in 1979 as track and equipment improvements begin to have a favorable effect on the railroad's efficiency and that ConRail should make a profit of nearly $400 million by 1985.

Teamster Talks Reach Impasse

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — Teamsters union and trucking industry negotiators remained "far apart" on crucial money issues today as the midnight deadline for a nationwide truck strike approached, federal labor officials said.

Labor Secretary W.J. Usery Jr. said contract negotiations were bogged down over four or five economic issues. Although he declined to elaborate, those issues reportedly include a difference of 75 cents an hour in wage increases, $6 a week in other benefits and cost-of-living allowances.

Usery and James Searce, acting head of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, planned to continue meeting with both sides today in anticipation of the midnight expiration of the National Master Freight Agreement.

The current contract covers about 400,000 truckers and warehousemen who move about 60 per cent of the nation's total output of manufactured goods.

Usery reported late Tuesday night that some progress was being made and said he felt enough time remained to fashion a settlement.

He added, however, "I am hopeful, but at this moment I certainly cannot in any way indicate ... I see an agreement. We're talking about a national agreement that has many implications not only for this industry but for the nation this year."

The Ford administration is concerned that a large settlement in favor of the Teamsters would have an inflationary impact on upcoming contract negotiations in the rubber, construction, electrical appliance and auto industries.

In weekend voting by union members across the country, Teamsters leaders received overwhelming authorization to call a strike if a settlement is not reached before the present contract expires.

Usery said Tuesday that no decision had been made to seek a Taft-Hartley injunction and invoke an 80-day cooling-off period, but federal sources said preparations to seek the necessary court order were being made in Washington.

An injunction would order resumption of work for the cooling-off period if a strike is begun, but dissident Teamsters have threatened wildcat strikes if such a back-to-work order is imposed.

The labor secretary told reporters that a cost-of-living allowance is "certainly one of the more serious issues now."

Rank-and-file Teamsters lost some 50 cents hourly in 1974-75 wages because of a cost-of-living ceiling under the existing contract, according to union officials.

A key point in the talks with Trucking Employers Inc., representing 16,000 firms as the industry's bargaining agent, has been the Teamsters' demand of no ceiling in the next contract.

On other issues, the Teamsters now want $1.75 in hourly salary increases and an additional $17 a week in pension and health-welfare benefits over three years.

TEI has based its offer on 39-month figures, proposing increased benefits of $11 a week. Sources said the employers also have raised their wage-hike offer from 85 cents to $1 an hour.

Drivers earn from $7.18 to $7.33 an hour under the existing contract.

All Penn Central railroad tracks in Pickaway County, except for switching tracks in the city of Circleville, were abandoned today under the ConRail and Ohio Department of Transportation final system plans.

The biggest loser in the federal government's move to rehabilitate the bankrupt Penn Central rail system could be the tiny villages and outposts previously served by "The Old Sheepskin."

All locations between Zanesville and Washington C.H. will lose rail service when ConRail takes over the operation tomorrow.

Tracks, built and operated during the Civil War, will no longer serve Stoutsville, Amanda, Williamsport, Atlanta, and New Holland. Feed mills and small businesses in these areas will have to find other means to transport and receive their products, possibly causing cost increases to consumers.

The county lines are included in about 20,000 miles of Penn Central track in Ohio abandoned today by order of the United States Railroad Association. ConRail (Consolidated Rail Inc.) was formed to pickup remains of the once-great Penn Central system, using federal monies to continue "trimmed down" service throughout much of the state.

Actually, the shut-down does not come as much of a surprise. Merchants along the route have been battling with the railroad system for 50 years to keep service. Subsidies and promises by larger plants to use the line had apparently kept it open since the 1920s.

The N & W Railroad will pick up about a half-a-mile of Penn Central track located within the city of Circleville and continue to operate the switch yards.

But the fate of the Penn Central freight station and switching tracks on

Consumer Compromise Promoted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Majority Democrats and the GOP administration apparently have the basis of a compromise in a long feud over who should run Ohio's top consumer protection agency.

However, Senate Finance Chairman Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, said Tuesday he thinks it may be an uneasy truce, with Republicans plotting strategy built around Gov. James A. Rhodes' veto power.

Commerce Director Gordon Peltier said Tuesday he now is willing to go along with a $2 million supplemental appropriations bill for his financially troubled department, even though it contains language that transfers the consumer protection division from his office to that of Democratic Atty. Gen. William J. Brown.

Last February, at hearings in Meshel's committee, Republican members voted against the appropriation because of the consumer agency transfer after Peltier testified against it. Tuesday, Peltier said "if they (Democrats) want to leave it (the transfer) in there, let them. I need the money to run my department."

Meshel, whose committee reopened hearings tonight on the sidetracked money bill, indicated he doesn't interpret Peltier's switch as a Democratic victory—not yet, anyway.

He speculated that the GOP—faced with a possibility of having to shut down the commerce department for two weeks in June unless it gets its funds—are counting on Rhodes to line item veto the agency transfer language.

Meshel claims Rhodes lacks authority to apply such vetoes, although the governor did it to several sections of a major school financing bill last year while letting the rest of that measure become law. A court challenge of those vetoes is pending.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, leveling off after two sessions of losses.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose nearly a point in the early going, but losers held a slight over-all edge on gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts said the market seemed to be probing for new direction after a month of narrow fluctuations.

They said some investors apparently had stepped aside to await March wholesale price index figures from the government later in the week.

Today's early prices included Pittston, unchanged at 34 1/4; Witco Chemical, off 1/4 at 27 1/4; Melville Shoe, down 1/4 at 23 1/4; and General Cable, up 1/4 at 11 1/2.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average declined 5.27 to 992.13 to extend its loss for the last two days to 11.33 points.

Penn Central . . .

Ohio St. and jobs of 40 local employees still remain in jeopardy.

If the N & W has no use for the freight station, the Civil War structure located behind the Corwin Street School will probably be razed, closing still another chapter in the county's history.

And the status of the employees, some with over 30 years experience with the Penn Central, is also clouded in silence.

Freight station clerk Jim Brown, a data processing specialist who has been working at the local station for 21 years, said most of the employees hope to be absorbed by ConRail.

But no indications or offers have been made yet, he said, because ConRail does not assume control of Penn Central until Thursday.

Freight station employees have been working to clear the office of records and equipment, shipping the supplies to Penn Central offices in other parts of the state — offices that will remain open under ConRail operation.

The employees, Brown said, hope to hear from ConRail within a 10-day time period. "After that, we figure we're on our own," he said.

If ConRail absorbs Penn Central employees, the local workers face still more problems. The seniority roster is maintained by the Cincinnati office, Brown said, but "dovetailed" on the Columbus roster. A question of prior rights "which has not been resolved could scatter the employees across the state.

Rhodes Asks Payment Of KSU Cost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes will soon ask the state to reimburse him for $79,000 costs to defend him during court battles that stemmed from the 1970 Kent State University shootings.

Robert Howarth, president of the state Controlling Board which oversees state spending, said today that an aide to the governor has informed him that Rhodes will ask for payment of fees by his attorney, R. Brooke Alloway.

Rhodes, other state officials and national guardsmen were exonerated by a federal jury in August 1975 of any civil damages from the shootings which killed four students and wounded nine others.

In that trial, the state paid for legal expenses for the guardsmen, but not for Rhodes, a Republican, or the former Kent State University president. Then-Gov. John J. Gilligan, a Democrat, instructed the attorney general to provide the defense for the guardsmen, but did not for the other two men, who were then out of public office.

The state expected to pay $1 million altogether for defending the guardsmen in state and federal investigations.

Howarth said he expects to receive the governor's request this week and will be presented to the board at its meeting Monday if members of the Democrat-controlled board agree to suspend rules that require seven days notice on the board agenda.

A request to pay $335,972 in legal expenses for the other defendants in the civil action from August is already on the agenda for Monday, Howarth said.

The defendants may return for more reimbursements after additional court action is completed. The plaintiffs in the civil action, the parents of the dead students and the nine wounded students, have appealed the lower court action to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

Spending By Lobbyists Aired

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Expense statements filed in the Indiana secretary of state's office show more than $300,000 was spent by lobbyists during the 1976 legislative session.

Biggest spender among the 214 registered lobbyists filing expense statements was Muncer Health Services Inc. of Hammond which paid an Indianapolis lobbyist $25,000.

The firm hired McConmb and Associates to promote a bill permitting the state to pay up to $300 a month for care of Medicaid recipients housed in private residential care homes. The bill passed.

clerk, and E. L. Myers (20 years) is the night clerk. Lee Dennison is the traveling agent.

Two crews of employees operated the switch engines at the freight station, providing 24 hour coverage for local plants in the area. And there were crews which operated on both sides of the city.

The 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. switch crew was headed by engineer Kenny Glick, who worked 34 years for Penn Central. R. L. Wills, a 34-year employee, was conductor on the switch engine; Robert Willison, a 35-year-employee, was the flagman; T. E. Joyce, 34-years, was the fireman; and H. M. Bigham, who has worked for Penn Central for 29 years, was the brakeman.

Personnel on the second shift were Fred Kitchen, engineer; D. D. Rollins, conductor; and M. A. Frazier and D. B. Kuhn, trainmen.

The last train traveled the tracks about 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, making the Morrow to Circleville run and continuing to New Lexington.

Man Appears In Court

One man appeared this morning during the mid-week session of Pickaway County Common Pleas Court. Allen Fields, represented by defense counsel David Kraft, appeared for sentencing on two charges of grand theft and one of breaking and entering.

Judge William Ammer sentenced Fields to three concurrent terms of six months to five years each at the Mansfield Reformatory for Men. The court then suspended the prison terms and placed Fields on probation for three years.

Representing the state of Ohio during the criminal proceedings was county prosecutor Richard Gerhardt.

Ashville House Hit By Thieves

Thieves escaped with $10,340 in weapons and merchandise after ransacking the 235 E. Main St., Ashville home of William Fischer.

The break-in and robbery occurred sometime since last Wednesday while Mr. and Mrs. Fischer were vacationing in their summer cottage in Hocking County.

Ashville Marshall William Pontious discovered the robbery Tuesday afternoon while making a check of the house. It is believed that the break-in was made Monday or Tuesday.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Jim Fite and an agent from London's Bureau of Criminal Investigation processed finger and foot prints from the dwelling.

Entry was apparently gained by forcing the front door. The door facing had been broken.

Contents of the house were in disarray, the Deputy said.

Eight weapons, including a .22 caliber 6-shot revolver mounted on a .38 caliber frame, were taken from an upstairs bedroom.

Two sterling silver sets, including one made especially for Mrs. Fischer, miscellaneous silver pieces, jewelry, three watches, and a set of antique straight razors were also taken.

Thieves took a 23-channel citizens band radio from a semi truck at Whaley Enterprises, Island Road.

Owner Darrell Dyke valued the radio at $100.

Delbert Sherman, Route 1, Amanda, told Sheriff's Deputies that thieves entered the unlocked garage of his Route 674 home to syphon 10 gallons of gasoline from his car.

The theft and break-in occurred between 10 p.m. Tuesday and 7 a.m. Wednesday.

Rex Blankenship, attendant of the Certified Oil Co. station, Route 23, told deputies that a man drove away without paying for a package of cigarettes and $1 worth of gasoline.

The incident occurred 10:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Mayor Frank Barnhill Proclaims April As 'Cancer Control Month'

As part of his role as Circleville's first citizen, Mayor Frank Barnhill signed a proclamation today designating April as "Cancer Control Month" and urged all citizens to rally behind the American Cancer Society's Crusade of Education and Fund Raising.

The mayor commented that it is especially significant in this bicentennial year that residents support the life-saving programs of one of America's finest voluntary agencies. He then pointed out the fact that voluntary organizations as we know them are an institution peculiar to the United States and have played a great part in the development of this nation.

Through the efforts of the American Cancer Society and other cancer control organizations, one out of every three cancer patients now survives; and in Ohio alone, 10,000 beat the disease last year, the mayor added. He concluded his remarks by urging citizens to have a yearly checkup.

The Mayor also encouraged residents to join the ranks of the Society's Pickaway County Unit 1976 Cancer Crusade, led by Larry Eveland of Circleville so that they could personally take part and experience the satisfaction that comes from helping in the massive struggle against cancer. Eveland earlier had announced that the goal for Pickaway County is $21,376.

"We in Pickaway County hope to surpass that goal in our efforts along with every other county here in Ohio to raise over $5 million to be used to advance the research, education, and service and rehabilitation programs of the American Cancer Society", Eveland said.

OSU To Collect Insignia Profits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State University will begin soon to collect fees from 29 manufacturers for the use of its name and insignia on sweatshirts, mugs and other merchandise.

The university name and insignia are registered with the U.S. Patent Office. Manufacturers seeking to use them must be granted permission by the university.

Charles Gambs, contracts officer at OSU, said profits from the contracts could be substantial. Sale of clothing items with the school's name or insignia brings in five per cent of the manufacturing price. A 10 per cent fee is charged for other merchandise.

The National Association of College Stores has objected to the university's patent policy, saying the licensing fees will increase the cost of goods to purchasers, most of whom are students.

One More Voyage

By JIM BISHOP

It is a world of majestic adventure, the rise and fall of a ship at sea. The passenger is aboard a city in motion, a municipality of shops and swimming pools, dining rooms and nightclubs, gymnasiums, theaters, bars, clinics and dance floors - all within 700 feet. This world moves at 20 knots, going somewhere, going nowhere. By day it is a blemish on a big blue dinner plate, never seeming to move from dead center. At night the tall masts are steady against the stars, the heart of the engines throbbing underfoot.

Always, always I have been more a sailor than anything else. At 12, I roamed the piers of the North River, boarding the Berengaria, the Mauretania, the Rex, Bremen, Rotterdam, feeling the teak railings, walking the promenade, misting my eyes as I braved a typhoon in Sumatra Straits, the rocky enfilades at Hong Kong, or brought the liner over the shoals into Liverpool.

Since then I have sailed some of the great ships - the liner United States, the Independence, Constitution, Angelina Lauro, Giulio Cesare. Once I was commodore of an old ship dragging pipe at 8 knots. She was doomed to become a beach motel in the Bahamas.

A few weeks ago, flaunting my exquisite sickness, I drove Kelly to Miami. We met our friends Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Letro of Olean, N.Y., for one more voyage on one more ship.

I must confess that I did not know that Miami has become the cruise capital of the United States. This season 1 million persons will board the great sailing swans - Sunward, Skyward, Boheme, Statendam, Flavia and Emerald Seas - for a week or 10 days on the mint Jello of the Caribbean.

All offer similar accommodations at similar rates. My choice is always the same: big and old. We boarded the T.S.S. Carnivale, 27,000 tons. Once she was the Empress of Britain, playing the seas between Vancouver, Hawaii and Sydney, Australia.

Her bows are as steady today as the day she left the shipyard at Scotland. She accepts a running head sea without flinching. Carnivale creeps into San Juan, St. Croix and St. Thomas like a big woman inching into a small girdle.

The action inside all cruise ships startles me. The night clubs are swinging, the bars busy, the gambling casino is resounding to the click of dice, shrieks of joy as slot machines rattle and ring, single girls prowling for a man, a white-uniformed officer.

The food is rich and plentiful. Everyone becomes an age-old friend of everyone else in the first hour. My wife complained that, instead of two beds and one john, we should have had one bed and two johns.

Vince Letro, veteran traveler, recalled the passenger's prayer: "Heavenly Father, look down on us your humble, obedient tourist servants, who are doomed to travel this earth taking photographs, mailing postcards, buying souvenirs and walking around in drip-dry underwear."

Captain Vittorio Fabietti ran the ship. David Barrett ran the passengers. Fabietti had the easy job. When Americans pay $62 apiece per day for anything, they expect someone to keep them exhausted from eating, drinking, listening and laughing.

Virginia Letro located honeymooners aged 70. I would like to have written a story, but they were never relocated. Romancing in a lifeboat I suspect. My wife, who is a special type, did some of her Christmas shopping in St. Thomas. I bought camera lenses at St. Croix.

A week later, the big Carnivale edged slowly into Miami with the morning sun behind her. The bags were packed. The waiters and stewards had been tipped. We were sleepy from too much night life. Another in a succession of sunny days and breezy nights at sea was ending.

The tugs shoved against the steel walls of the ship. She was bound to the dock in a spider web of hawsers. Everyone waited to go ashore and stand in line to clear customs. A dull finish.

I remembered that my friend Vincent Letro is a mortician. I wrote a final postcard to my family physician: "Have overcome all fears of death, am now traveling with my personal undertaker." ...

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Now that we are in the middle of a flu epidemic, would you discuss your feelings about the value of the flu vaccine?

Mr. K. R., Pa.

Dear Mr. R.: Your question is a very sound one. All physicians have been asking themselves this question. The influenza vaccine that was suggested to the elderly, the infirm and those with chronic debilitating diseases had medical validity. It is difficult at the present time for public health officials to track down the particular virus responsible for the present epidemic. It may turn out to be a totally different virus from the one that was included in the injections given in November and December of 1975.

The question always arises as to how much sicker would victims have been today had they not been given the inoculation against the flu virus.

Even in retrospect, public health officials believe that their recommendation was correct.

When is X-ray treatment against a tumor used instead of surgery?

Mrs. G. L., La.

Dear Mrs. L.: Malignant, or cancerous, tumors can be treated by surgery, by cobalt X-ray treatment, by chemicals and by any combination of these. The decision depends entirely on the nature of the tumor, its location and its extent. There are some tumors that are highly radio-sensitive and disappear when they are bombarded with cobalt radiation.

Others must be removed surgically. When there is any extension of the tumor, the surrounding area may, as a preventative measure, be treated with X-ray.

The decision to choose one or more methods of treatment is a highly critical one and depends on many factors. Patients, therefore, are not in a position to make such a choice. It can only be done by those highly experienced in the treatment of such conditions.

After giving birth to a child, I developed a milk cyst. I wonder if this could ever become cancerous. I wonder, too, if the doctor is telling me the truth when he says that it is nothing to worry about.

Mrs. H. L. M., Mich.

Dear Mrs. M.: A "milk cyst" is known as a galactocoele. It occurs occasionally in women who have just given birth to a child.

The tinct duct, or tube, that carries milk to the nipple may become blocked, enlarged and painful. Most of them are readily controlled by local treatment and rarely do they need surgery.

You can be certain that your doctor is not deliberately trying to spare you any knowledge of your condition. Living under that assumption would only exaggerate your fears. Most emphatically, let me assure you that a milk cyst never undergoes malignant degeneration.

Alpha Delta State President Speaker For Beta Rho Chapter Delta Kappa Gamma Society

Mrs. Mary Erwin, Alpha Delta State President, was guest speaker for the recent meeting of Beta Rho Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society in the home of Mrs. D. R. Wylie, 369 Markley Drive.

Miss Betty Melton conducted the business meeting. She announced that registration is now open for the Alpha Delta State Convention to be held in Toledo, May 7-9, and the International Convention in July at St. Louis.

Alpha Delta State has awarded the Annie Webb Blanton Scholarship to Mrs. Ethel Grooms to be used in her graduate study.

Committee chairmen were informed their reports are due by April 1. Two new members will be initiated at the April 29 meeting in the home of Mrs. Joseph Peters.

Mrs. Donald Price introduced Mrs. Erwin who used as her topic "Women Of The American Revolution." She was appropriately dressed in a bicentennial costume and told of her long search for the material used. Her presentation was a salute to the founding mothers of the United States of America.

Ater Family Seeks Relatives For Bicentennial Reunion

The family of Casper Eader (the German for Ater) came to Frederick, Virginia, in 1765, from the Rhine River Valley in Germany. George, the seventh son of Casper, married Mary Boyer. Nine children were born to Mary and George Ater. With the outbreak of the Revolutionary War, George enlisted in the army and was subsequently wounded. In exchange for George's service in the army, he was given title to land in the Virginia Military District in the Northwest Territory. He settled on the banks of the Deercreek, on what was known as Round Prairie, in 1799. George died June 18, 1820, and was buried in Little Zion Baptist Graveyard, Deerfield Township, Ross County.

We, the Descendants of Abraham Ater, (June, 1776 - July, 1855) George's son, have formed a steering committee to commemorate our heritage in this Bicentennial Year. Two projects have been planned: 1) George's gravestone, a large structure, is still standing but in dire need of repair. This tombstone also bears the names of his son, Abraham, and Abraham's wife, Charity. An expert has advised us that restoration of the gravestone is possible. 2) Our second enterprise is a grand reunion at noon, Sunday, July 11, 1976, at the Clarksburg Field Day Grove, Route 138, Clarksburg, Ohio. The covered dish meal would be followed by an afternoon program. As it is our desire to have the renovation of the gravestone completed so it could be viewed at the time of the reunion, approximately $250.00 will be needed to cover the expenses for this endeavor. Contributions may be sent to the George Ater Memorial Fund, in care of, Glen E. Ater, Clarksburg Commercial Bank, Clarksburg, Ohio 43115, by June 1, 1976.

In this two hundredth year of our freedom, let us the descendants of George Ater, keep alive the legacy left us by our Revolutionary War Ancestor. This can be accomplished in three ways 1) COME to the Reunion 2) CONTRIBUTE to the George Ater Memorial Fund 3) COMMUNICATE this message to other descendants. If you have any questions please contact a member of the steering committee.

Frankfort, Convoy Girls Clash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Frankfort Adena's multitasking girls have built Ohio's most successful high school sports story in the last year.

The Ross County school's basketball team, unbeaten in 42 games, can add another bright chapter in the first girls' state basketball tournament this weekend.

The lady Warriors, 18-0 this season, play another undefeated power, Convoy Crestview, Friday morning in a state semifinal game in St. John Arena.

"I'm beginning to feel the pressure," admitted Louise Drummond, an Adena study hall monitor drafted three years ago to build a girls basketball program.

Small wonder. The tiny school, with a four-year enrollment of 376, won the first Class A state girls track championship last spring. The Adena volleyball girls followed with the first Ohio crown in that sport last fall.

The mounting pressure hasn't dulled Mrs. Drummond's confidence. "If we play our kind of ball," the wife of a farmer said, "I think we can win."

The principal reason is Cindy Noble, a 6-foot-4 junior who is tallest player in all three classes in the state tournament.

"She's a natural. She has to be the best one anyone ever coached. She came to us as a 6-2 freshman and had complete control of her body at that age," the Warriors' coach said of her star.

Miss Noble is one of those allsports stars at Adena, 11 miles west of Chillicothe. She averages 25 points and 24 rebounds. She ran a leg on the school's state championship 440-yard relay track team and she starred on the title-winning volleyball squad.

Adena is tall for a Class A team. Ruthie Ater is 5-8½, Debbie Martin 5-7, Eva Riley 5-8 and Donna Atchinson 5-6. Miss Riley is the lone senior.

Basketball is just a fragment of Adena's success.

The track team has won 11 of the 12 league championships. They have not lost in any kind of meet in the last 67 events. The volleyball squad's winning streak has reached 56 matches.

The boys do nearly as well. The football team has a 47-9 record in the last nine seasons. In basketball, the Warriors have reached regional tournament play the last two years and went 20-3 this winter.

Marvin Seyfang, the school's athletic director, says equal opportunity for the girls has helped.

"When I became AD 11 years ago, we started really emphasizing girls sports. We treat them exactly the same as the boys. We have only athletes."

Mrs. Drummond puts it another way: "Success breeds success. You can't consider it a fluke when you look at our 10-year record."

Coy Bacon Could

Join Cincy Bengals

SAN DIEGO (AP) — San Diego Charger defensive end Coy Bacon may soon be on his way to the Cincinnati Bengals, the San Diego Union reports.

Union sports writer Jerry Magee said Tuesday that a trade is nearing completion which would send the 6-foot-4, 270-pound Bacon to the Bengals for veteran wide receiver Charlie Joiner.

Fest Lost To Bengals In Draft

CINCINNATI (AP) — The news hit Howard Fest like a flying forearm from "Mean" Joe Greene.

Fest, a strapping 260-pound Texan who had played in 115 consecutive games for the Cincinnati Bengals, choked back tears upon learning he had become expendable in Tuesday's National Football League expansion draft.

Fest, one of the original Bengals taken in the 1968 draft, and defensive backs Lyle Blackwood and Ricky Davis were lost in allocation draft that stocked incoming clubs Seattle and Tampa.

"All I can say is that I'm really surprised by the whole thing," said Fest, his voice cracking. An offensive guard, he was Cincinnati's No. 6 draft choice in the Bengals maiden season.

Fest and Davis were selected by Tampa, while Blackwood went to Seattle.

The loss of Fest caught most Bengal followers off guard. Few expected him to be among the 13 Cincinnati players up for grabs.

Coach Bill Johnson hinted that Fest was the first Bengal drafted.

"He would've been the first taken off (the unprotected list), but we never got the chance to do it," Johnson said. Each club was allowed to pull back a player after losing one.

In Memoriam

In memory of Chester Ramey who passed away March 30, 1973. When our days are dark and dreary and everything goes wrong. We seem to hear him whisper "Cheer up and carry on". Each time we see his pictures He seems to smile and say "Don't cry." The Circleville Herald will meet again some day. Sadly missed by Wife and Children

1. Card of Thanks

I would like to express my sincere appreciation for the prayers, flowers, and many other kindnesses extended to me during my recent hospitalization. A special "Thank you" to Rev. Flowers, my family, and to Ginny and Norma.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): The restrained, quiet approach to situations will win over more people and points than any other now. But inner spunk and enthusiasm will also count.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You may be tempted to dodge obligations, to take off on tangents. DON'T! This is a day in which you can only achieve through stick-to-it-iveness.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may be the recipient of some "inside information" regarding a business deal. If your "source" is reliable, act promptly.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 13): This could be a day of great personal achievement. Make plans for attaining cherished objectives, but don't expect the unreasonable.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Care needed in scientific and technical matters. If you step knowingly, however, you can net fine gains.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): There's a tendency now to take off on tangents or useless ventures if you don't keep your mind on immediate objectives. Let moderation be your keyword.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): There will be more to this day than is obvious at first, so dig deep for hidden treasures, and have faith that you will succeed. Don't overshoot safe marks, however.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Some persons may act in a manner not fully anticipated. Do not let this throw you off balance or offset your innate tolerance and understanding.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Some planetary restrictions. Be cautious in making investments, and DO control emotions. Some situations will call for unusual tact.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A suggestion to which you have not given much previous thought could, quite unexpectedly, open new doors to progress. Pull it out of your files.

ConRail In Existence After Long Struggle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — After years of planning and federal lawmaking, the Consolidated Rail Corp.—ConRail—begins operations in Ohio and 16 other states Thursday.

Outside of a few communities, the new company is unlikely to be noticed immediately. Railroad cars still will pick up freight and move it through the nation's industrial heartland.

But the time is both historic and monumental. The creation of ConRail means the extinction of the familiar Penn Central, Erie Lackawanna and five other lines as operating railroads.

It means the immediate abandonment of almost 550 miles of railroad track in Ohio, although those tracks account for only six-one hundredths of one per cent of the total freight carried on all Ohio track.

Also, it means many jobs in rail yards suddenly are redundant. Particularly hard hit is Marion, where the Erie Lackawanna rail classification yard and repair shops are to close.

State transportation officials appear to have brunted what could have been disastrous track abandonments in Ohio. Some 336.4 miles of branch track formerly on the brink of abandonment appears relatively safe for a year. After that year, however, its future is in doubt.

Getting to this point has been less than smooth for Ohio.

State lawyers and transportation experts were in Washington last week negotiating the final agreement to continue service on the 336.4 miles of threatened track, and were still getting the needed signatures on those documents early this week.

But for the moment, it appeared the crisis was over.

ConRail is the federal corporation created by Congress to take over seven bankrupt rail lines in the Midwest and Northeast. Although it is funded by the government, it is a private corporation and is supposed to make a profit after a transition period.

The planning process was complex. Congress established one agency, the U.S. Railway Association, to plan ConRail, and a second agency, the Rail Services Planning Office, to critically evaluate USRA's plan.

The result was some bickering, some disagreement, many public hearings and finally, last year, a system plan. The plan became law when Congress failed to reject it last winter.

Although the bulk of the problem nationally was how to make seven bankrupt railroads into one profitable one, the basic problem in Ohio and other affected states was what was Bad Weather Sweeps Over Eastern U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Southern states, clobbered by tornadoes, flooding and storms the past two days, received more severe weather early today as thunderstorms spread from southern Texas into Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia.

Severe thunderstorms developed early in Michigan, which was also hit by tornadoes on Tuesday.

The National Weather Service said 24 tornadoes were reported on Tuesday, compared with 41 tornadoes on Monday. Tuesday's twisters included eight in Texas, five in Mississippi, seven in Louisiana and two each in Alabama and Michigan.

The tornado death toll so far this week was six killed in Arkansas, three in Mississippi and one in Michigan.

Today's thundershowers in the southeast are bringing locally heavy rain, and a tornado watch remained in effect for parts of Alabama and Mississippi.

Considerable cloudiness prevailed across the eastern third of the nation early today. Light rain and drizzle was scattered from the Great Lakes into Tennessee and from the northern Appalachians into the Carolinas. Some freezing rain and snow was reported in parts of upper Michigan.

termed "light density lines," or branch freight lines.

In its preliminary and final system plans, USRA evaluated each line to determine whether it was profitable or not. Branch segments which did not earn their keep were slated for abandonment.

Of Ohio's 8,206 miles of rail track, track which over a year generated or terminated 3.74 million carloads of freight, 1,759 miles were designated as light density lines.

In the final system plan, ConRail agreed to include 682.5 miles of that track within its system. Another 67.3 miles was designated for purchase by other railroads, while 124 miles was identified as already out of service.

That left 885.5 miles marked for abandonment. That track originates or terminates 12,270 carloads of freight annually.

The abandonment list shocked many communities, who suddenly were looking at local economic catastrophes. Congress had provided for this occurrence, but the federal plan ran into a state snag.

Under the federal legislation, $90 million in federal money was to be provided for "rail continuation subsidies" on a 70-30 matching basis. In other words, if a local government thought a particular section of track was important enough, it could put up 30 per cent of the amount being lost on the section, and the federal government would put up the rest, allowing subsidized service to continue.

But the subsidy program ran smack into a state constitutional prohibition. The Ohio Constitution forbids state or local governments from becoming financially involved in private businesses. And, by the legislation which created it, ConRail is a private business.

The General Assembly tried to deal with the situation by proposing a constitutional amendment last November to exempt the ConRail involvement. But wary voters rejected the amendment, a move sponsors say was due more to the impact of other issues on the ballot than to voter feelings toward ConRail.

The legislature has put the issue back on the ballot for this June.

In the meantime, the state has opted out of necessity for a makeshift system and has been bailed out by a change in federal law.

Congress early this year enacted amendments to the ConRail plan providing a more liberal subsidy agreement. Under the amended plan, the federal government provides a 100 per cent federal subsidy the first year of ConRail operations; a 90-10 subsidy in the second year; 80-20 in the third and 70-30 funding for the fourth and fifth years.

The most important factor in the change is the 100 per cent federal funding. Since no state or local money is involved, state rail officials have decided they can get around the constitutional prohibition against state involvement.

That part of the plan was worked out with ConRail last week in a bargaining session between ConRail lawyers, Ohio lawyers and representatives of the Ohio Department of Transportation.

It allows the state to serve as the legal agent for rail users, with a contract stipulation that the State of Ohio cannot be held liable for anything.

The plan involves some risk for ConRail. If costs on the subsidized lines run beyond estimates, ConRail may have to absorb the overrun.

But the Department of Transportation says that is unlikely, since Ohio has some $7 million in federal funds available and needs only about $2.5 million to $3 million in subsidies under present cost estimates.

The subsidies will not cover all 885.5 miles of track. The Ohio Department of Transportation state rail plan, which serves as the base for the subsidy program, says that 549.1 miles will be abandoned. The subsidies will apply to the 336.4 remaining miles.

The ODOT report said those 336.4 miles, although amounting to only 38 per cent of the track mileage in the 885.5 miles, carries 82 per cent of the freight which uses those lines.

The decisions on which lines to subsidize and which to abandon were based partly on the amount of freight carried, partly on socio-economic factors and partly on other transportation facilities available.

And, two new firms said they are considering building plants along the rail lines.

With those considerations, state rail officials included the branch line in the rail plan and made it available for federal subsidy. Rail service along the line now is scheduled to continue, at least for the next year.

The long run remains in doubt, however. Next year, the funding shifts to 90-10 federal-local, and the state cannot participate under the present constitutional bars.

Ohio voters can change that constitutional prohibition in the June primary. Or, shippers can sign their own contracts with ConRail to cover the local share of the costs.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Let Single Dad Become A Swinger

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old boy with a problem. My father is 51. He and my mom are separated, so Dad moved into a singles apartment, and now he is a changed person. He let his hair grow long, he wears strange clothes and beads, and he doesn't even look like my dad anymore.

The majority of the people who live in his complex are in their 20s and 30s, and my father must think he fits right in with them, which he doesn't. People must think he is going through his second childhood.

I want to tell him how stupid he looks, but I don't want to hurt him. How can I put it to him gently that he is making a fool of himself?

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: Underneath the long hair, beads and those "strange clothes" he's still your father. There is no way to tell him "gently" that you think he's making a fool of himself, he has the right to change his lifestyle to suit himself, and it's not your place to judge him.

DEAR ABBY: Referring to your answer to STUMPED concerning his employee's bad breath and B.O.: Since he is a key employee, I would suggest that his employer take him aside, compliment him on his good work, then say, "I have noticed certain symptoms in you that could be a clue to a health problem. Your breath is unpleasant at times, and you have body odor. I want you to see our physician as we are concerned about the health of our better employees. Naturally, we will pay for the examination."

If he is truly a "key" employee, the money will be well spent, and a doctor is in a much better position to tell him about personal hygiene than his boss is. There also could be something wrong with him-teeth, low-grade infection or something else.

Many companies require annual physicals for employees at company expense. The boss should tell the M.D. about the problem in advance so he can take this into consideration before the examination.

AMATEUR PSYCHOLOGIST
DEAR AMATUER: You do all right for an amateur-or even a professional. Your approach was better than mine.

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law does something that my husband and I find irritating. We have eaten at her home many times, and she never says the blessing before the meal unless there is an outsider there she wants to impress. Then she makes a big show of it, and everyone must bow their heads and join in.

She does the same thing when dining out in public. And she does it in a way that attracts attention of the other diners at nearby tables.

I have nothing against praying. My husband and I both say our prayers every night before retiring. However, we believe that a prayer is something private between a person and his Lord.

My husband and I feel that we should let his sister know how we feel about her hypocritical praying, but we don't know how to say it. Any suggestions?

HATES HYPOCRITES

DEAR HATES: Why say anything? Your sister-in-law knows that you know she says grace only on special occasions. She may fool the outsiders, but she isn't fooling the Lord. And that's what counts.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Medical Services Program Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A state senator who says Ohio can do something to prevent "untold, needless deaths" is seeking passage of his bill licensing paramedics and creating an emergency medical services board.

Sen. Neal F. Zimmers Jr., D-5 Dayton, claims his proposal would end a scattered patchwork of emergency medical programs and give the state a uniform plan to provide better quality help.

"There are untold, needless deaths in this state every year because of the lack of organization," says the 33-year-old Dayton attorney now in his freshman term in the Senate.

His bill cleared the Senate 23-6 on March 25 over scattered objections it would impose an additional burden on local governments already straining to pay their bills.

His bill, now under study by a House committee, empowers the health director to issue permits for ambulances and three-year certificates for paramedics. The latter are defined in the bill as persons responsible for the operation of an ambulance and specially trained in emergency care. Zimmers' measure calls for appointment by the governor of a nine-member Ohio Emergency Medical Services Board within 90 days of its effective date.

It requires the board to prepare a state emergency medical services plan, and to assist the disaster services agency and its advisory council in formulating policies and regulations, along with training standards for emergency medical technicians. It also would determine the number and types of persons on each vehicle and prescribe communications systems. Zimmers' bill doesn't apply to vehicles rendering assistance during major catastrophes, nor does it apply to funeral home coaches used to transport the infirm on a non-emergency basis, he said.

Ohio has only a few laws that regulate the delivery of emergency medical services, and none that define ambulances or require training of personnel, Zimmers said.

In its analysis of the proposal, the Legislative Service Commission said "there is a mixture of government, private, and voluntary emergency medical services within the state. The emergency medical services board would regulate both training as well as vehicle and equipment standards."

On the 14th of December, 1962, the U.S. Spacecraft Mariner flew close to Venus and for 42 minutes its instruments recorded information about the earth's closest planetary neighbor.

Johnny Appleseed Once Trod Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jonathan J. Chapman was a man who became so wrapped in legend there appeared, at various times in Ohio's past, those who said he never was.

But Chapman, whose fame must be eternal as Johnny Appleseed, was real enough to become an established part of Ohio's heritage, and a favorite of school children as well as adults.

Born in New England about 1775, he first appeared in Ohio around Marietta in 1800, spreading appleseeds and planting orchards as well as herbs in many parts of the state. Stories about his singularities were common—that he played with three bear cubs while the mother watched; how he walked barefoot in the wintertime without freezing his toes; how he could tell directions by instinct and never carried a compass; how he could stick pins through his flesh without experiencing pain; how he once put out a fire to prevent mosquitoes from dashing into the flame.

His unselfishness, the results of his being a follower of Swedenborg whose doctrines he preached, showed itself in everything he did. He never carried a gun, never willfully harmed a living thing. He refused to eat meat, and paid for his meals with seeds or saplings. He was loved by Indians as well as the whites, but once ran a long distance to warn Mansfield settlers of an impending Indian attack.

In the late 1830's Ohio was filling with people and Johnny Appleseed moved on to Indiana. It was while returning from a 35-mile trip to one of his orchards that he caught a chill and stopped at a cabin where he died during the night. The Fort Wayne

Sentinel reported:

"Died in the neighborhood of this city on Tuesday last, 1845, Mr. John Chapman, better known as Johnny Appleseed. The deceased was well known through this region by his eccentricities, and the strange garb he usually wore. He followed the occupation of nurseryman."

Reagan Bid Fails

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan apparently has failed to place a statewide slate of Republican convention delegates on Ohio's June 8 primary ballot.

Harold Holzworth, chairman of the Franklin County Board of Elections, said the board Tuesday eliminated 263 signatures from Reagan's petitions. When filed, Reagan's slate of statewide delegate candidates had only 164 more petition signatures than the 1,000 required for the primary.

Most of the signatures for Reagan's statewide slate were obtained in Franklin County. When filed, the petitions contained 1,081 signatures. The 263 were eliminated because the board found the signers were not qualified electors.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said he could not confirm that Reagan had been knocked off the statewide ballot until he got confirmation Thursday from the Franklin County board on the number of valid signatures certified.

Galilee Outbreak Feared By Israelis

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Israeli police patrolled in force in tense but quiet Arab villages in Galilee today as villagers in northern Israel prepared to bury six Arabs killed by police and army gunfire.

There were fears that the funerals would ignite new rioting. But Police Minister Shlomo Hillel ordered security forces not to shoot unless lives were threatened and lifted a curfew imposed on villages north of Nazareth.

Police reported that Arab youths stoned police in four villages during the night but said there was no serious violence.

Five of the Arabs were killed Tuesday during riots that accompanied a 24-hour strike by Arab citizens of Israel which the Israeli Communist party called to protest government purchase of some 1,600 acres of arid Arab land for housing and development projects. Another Arab was killed in a prestrike riot Monday night.

Authorities reported that 31 Israeli Arabs and about 50 police and soldiers were injured during the riots and that at least 285 persons were rounded up for investigation.

The semi-official Israeli state radio said fewer than 20 per cent of the Israeli Arabs joined in the strike and that it was generally regarded as a failure. But in a dozen Arab villages, most of them in Galilee, rioters battled police, throwing stones and flaming kerosene bombs, and even fired guns in the village of Taibiya.

Tewfik Zayad, the Communist mayor of Nazareth and the leader of the strike, charged the clashes came only "when police provoked the people." He claimed police "ran after people and shot at them."

Zayad is also a member of the Knesset, the Israeli parliament. Rakah, the Communist party, introduced a motion of no confidence accusing Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin's government of aggression against Israel's 500,000 Arab citizens.

The fighting was the first between Israeli troops and Arab citizens of the Jewish state since Israel became a state in 1948.

Tension among Israeli Arabs has been heightened by unrest in the occupied West Bank territory taken from Jordan in the 1967 war. Three Arabs were killed there in recent weeks in clashes with security forces.

Some shopkeepers in the West Bank and the occupied Gaza Strip joined in the strike Tuesday, but Israeli troops forced them to reopen.

"Palestinian Arabs of the West Bank are fed up with the occupation," said the mayor of Bethlehem, Elias Freij. "We are brothers and sisters of the Arabs of Israel, and we support them."

Desert Subway

EUREKA, Nev. (AP) — It may be hard to believe, but there once was a subway in the Nevada desert.

Under the hills of Eureka, a once-bustling mining town in the Diamond Mountains, a subway was dug connecting the town's two breweries with its saloons. Several stores, a school and some homes also had access to the tunnel.

All that remains today is a short section under a hotel.

Morton Takes Over For Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rogers C.B. Morton takes a new title and moves four blocks to a new office Friday, but his job is the same: trying to help President Ford win a full term in the White House.

His appointment to succeed Howard H. Callaway as manager of the Ford campaign is not expected to bring major changes to the President's political operation.

And Morton's role at Ford headquarters is not likely to be much different from his job as top political aide at the White House.

Within hours after his appointment was announced Tuesday, Morton was in Richmond, Va., conferring with about 40 Ford allies on fund-raising and delegates in the race with Republican challenger Ronald Reagan.

Morton, 61, a former Maryland congressman and GOP national chairman, served as Interior secretary and Commerce secretary, left the government briefly, then became a counselor to the President.

An aide said Morton as campaign manager will serve as spokesman, speechmaker and contact man, while deputy manager Stuart Spencer takes care of the tactical political questions. Morton also will be the administrative chief at Ford headquarters.

But the real change is not in the new name on the campaign door. It is the removal of the old one, with Callaway's acknowledgement that controversy surrounding him had become a potential political problem.

Navy Stands By Close To Lebanon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld said today the United States is not currently planning an evacuation of Americans from war-ravaged Lebanon but that the Navy is ready if evacuation becomes necessary.

A special U.S. envoy, L. Dean Brown, who coordinated the task force that oversaw the U.S. evacuation of Americans and refugees from Saigon, is en route to Lebanon to seek a truce and settlement in the volatile Lebanese civil war.

Rumsfeld was asked on the CBS-TV "Morning News" whether the United States is planning to remove the 1,450 Americans presently in Lebanon. He replied with a crisp: "No, indeed."

"We are hopeful that will not be required," Rumsfeld said. "The goal is to achieve a ceasefire."

A U.S. Navy task group of seven ships headed by the helicopter carrier Guadalcanal is standing about 24 hours steaming time from the Lebanese coast in what officials have called a "holding pattern."

Pentagon officials have indicated that evacuation, if necessary, would be conducted by helicopters flown into Lebanon to pick up Americans and take them to the amphibious ships offshore.

A battalion of about 1,700 Marines is aboard the task group ships and could be deployed ashore to protect evacuating Americans.

Brown, a former ambassador to Jordan who retired last year from the diplomatic corps, was named Tuesday to replace ailing G. McMurtre Godley, the regular ambassador to Beirut, who is in the United States recovering from surgery.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger decided to send Brown because "it is important to have in Beirut at this critical time a man with Ambassador Brown's seniority and long experience," State Department spokesman Robert Funseth said.

The strife in Lebanon was the main topic of discussions which President Ford had Tuesday with visiting King Hussein of Jordan. A White House statement said both leaders agreed on the need for a cease-fire and also a basic political solution in Lebanon.

NORTHWEST INLAND WEST LAKE SHORE

WEST CENTRAL CENTRAL SOUTHWEST
Chance of showers and cooler tonight and Thursday. Lows tonight in the mid 30s and highs Thursday in the lower 50s. Chance of rain 40 per cent tonight and 50 per cent Thursday.

EAST CENTRAL SOUTHEAST
Showers likely and cooler tonight and Thursday. Lows tonight in the upper 30s and highs Thursday in the lower 50s. Chance of rain 90 per cent today, 70 per cent tonight and Thursday.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Damp, wet weather moved into Ohio on the last day of the month. A series of low pressure systems moving northward along the Appalachian mountains spread a heavy blanket of clouds, occasional rain and scattered thundershowers across most of the state overnight. The unsettled weather was to continue across the state today, tonight and Thursday with continuing periods of rain and scattered thundershowers. Highs today were to be mainly in the 50s, closer to normal for this time of year.

Some cooling is forecast for tonight and Thursday and could produce a mixture of rain and snow Thursday morning in the northwestern counties. This will change to showers during the day.

Lows tonight will drop into the 30s and highs Thursday will be in the 40s and 50s, in contrast to record readings of Wednesday.

Taiwan Becomes Grain Customer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tiny island Republic of China — Taiwan — has become a mighty customer of the American farmer and expects to grow still further in the years ahead, according to its trade officials.

A five-year agreement calling for the purchase of 10.2 million metric tons of grain and soybeans by June 30, 1981, was signed earlier this month by Chinese officials and U.S. grain companies.

The trade mission said Tuesday at a news conference here that purchases probably will exceed the amount specified in the agreement, although spokesmen said they could not estimate how much in additional commodities might be sought.

Comparatively, Taiwan is a larger customer than the Soviet Union. With only 16.1 million people, about 6.4 per cent of Russia's 250 million, Taiwan's prospective purchases of 10.2 million tons of grain and soybeans over the next five years are equal to about one-third the minimum agreed to by the Soviets. There are 2,205 tons in a metric ton.

The Soviet Union last fall agreed to buy at least six million tons of wheat and corn annually over five years, beginning this October 1. Taiwan's will average about two million tons a year.

Y.T. Wong, director general of the board of foreign trade for Taiwan's ministry of economic affairs, told reporters that an objective of the five-year agreement is to establish "some stability" in farm trade between the two countries.

Wong, in response to a question, said Taiwan was not pressured by the United States to enter the long range agreement. He said Taiwan believes it will be a "buyer's market" for grain in the world in the next few years, but added that if supplies do become tight his government wants to have a definite relationship established in order to obtain grain at that time.

As to quality of U.S. grain, the delegation said Taiwan currently is buying soybeans only from Brazil and the United States and that those are of "very similar" quality.

The delegation said over-all U.S. grain quality was "good," although there have been some difficulties in the past with protein content and weight of wheat cargoes not measuring up to specifications. The best quality corn, they said, is from South Africa. But they added that there is a trend to the purchase of more U.S. corn.

Recycling System Being Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A recycling system able to transform trash collected in Marion County, Ind., into synthetic gas is under study by the Battelle Memorial Institute here.

The system would produce enough gas to supply 9 per cent of the county's heating needs and would cost an estimated $54 million to build, a spokesman said.

Officials said about 2,000 tons of refuse daily are collected in the Indianapolis metropolitan area. That amount reportedly would produce 13 million cubic feet of synthetic natural gas, or enough to supply 9 per cent of the amount sold daily by Citizens Gas.

Further tests on the process are being conducted at the Battelle pilot plant site at West Jefferson, Ohio, located about 20 miles west of Columbus.

Mrs. G. Arden 4-H Program Planned Again

With the rising cost of food, gardening has once again become a popular 4-H project. Once we planted Victory Gardens and now Mrs. G. Arden helps us plant a Green Scene.

What is a "Green Scene?" Why that's a place where Orville Onion, Streaking Squash, Reckless Red Radish, Groovy Green Bean and Lazy Leafy Lettuce can be found.

If you have a little space you can grow a little garden, but if you have a lot of space you can grow a big garden. Our home needs to be very special because we need sunlight, air and water. We grow lots better on the south side of your home. Don't plant us under a tree and if it rains don't give us any more water. By giving us a good home we'll grow into strong healthy plants and give you your own "Green Scene."

By joining Mrs. G. Arden you will learn how to choose a proper garden site, how to prepare the ground and when to plant different seeds. Mrs. G. Arden even gives you all the seeds you need. Each seed has its own special time and depth to be planted. Mrs. G. Arden also tells you how long before your favorite vegetable will be ready to eat. While waiting for them to grow, she shows you how to take care of the plants. Weeding and water are most important. If you allow weeds in your garden they will crowd out the plants. The best time to water is after supper — it's cooler then.

When your vegetables are ready, they should be picked right away. Mrs. G. Arden tells you when they are ready and then gives you recipes to prepare them.

All you need to be a Mrs. G. Arden 4-H'er is interest and a small place for a garden. Come to the fairgrounds Coliseum on Saturday, April 3rd, 9:30 a.m., and Mrs. G. Arden will give you seeds and show you how to plant them.

Argentine To Fight Terrorists

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Jorge Videla, in an outline of his new military government's goals, gave first priority to a war on terrorism to achieve the stability necessary for reconstruction of the Argentine economy.

Videla, making his first speech since he and other military leaders ousted President Isabel Peron a week ago, said Tuesday night that his government "will monopolize the use of force."

"We will use that force as many times as necessary to ensure the full observance of social peace. Toward this goal we will combat, without truce, subversive delinquency in any of its manifestations until it is totally annihilated," the 50-year-old general said in a radio-television address.

Videla did not mention Mrs. Peron and gave no indication if his three-man military junta plans to bring her to trial. She is under house arrest at a mountain resort in southern Argentina.

Shortly before Videla went on the air, the government froze the bank accounts of Mrs. Peron and 72 other leaders of the Peronist movement.

The governor of Indiana received more powers when the state government was reorganized in 1933.

Westfall Sets Date For Registration

The Westfall Board of Education met Tuesday night in a continuation of the regular meeting and made arrangements for the first grade and kindergarten registration for the 1976-77 school year.

Registration of both kindergarten students and first grade students who were not enrolled in this year's kindergarten program was set for May 4. The registration will take place at the Darby, Jackson and Monroe Elementary Schools from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. on that date.

First grade students must be six years of age on or before Sept. 30 of the current school year and kindergarten students must be five years of age by the same date.

A birth certificate or other legal document is required for all incoming kindergarten and first grade students.

Each pupil must also present written evidence that he has received or is in the process of receiving immunizations against polio, rubella, diphtheria, rubella, pertussis and tetanus.

Parents of children whose sixth birthday is between Sept. 30 and Dec. 31 may contact the county board of education to arrange for a testing of their child. The test will determine the eligibility for entrance to the first grade.

Robert Debo, high school principal, and Richard Everman, middle school principal, were present at the meeting to discuss the assignments of personnel for the 1976-77 school year. The meeting was extended to April 5 for further discussion of employment and assignments of personnel.

The main item before the board during Tuesday's meeting was the adoption of the final appropriation for 1976. A figure of $1,747,936.25 was approved for the general fund.

In other action, the board approved several requests by teachers for personal leave.

Mrs. Paula Thomerson was employed as a tutor and the substitute teacher list No. 8 was approved as recommended by the county superintendent.

Approval was also given for the use of the high school ball diamond by the Williamsport pony league for the summer months and the Jackson School ball diamond by the Jackson Youth Baseball Organization.

in the Diabetes and Blood Pressure screenings which are currently being conducted in the county.

In Tarlton, 81 persons were screened, 77 in Williamsport, 233 in two days at Ashville, and 80 in Derby. Screenings will continue in Circleville Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

A total of 394 blood pressure checks were made during the screenings, with referrals forwarded to family physicians. Repeat blood pressure checks are being made through the generosity and time of the Circleville Emergency Medical Team, they said.

The nurses noted that 23 routine TB skin tests were administered in March with no positive reactions. Seventeen patients were provided with INH serum and four other patients received more extensive TB medication.

Eleven patients followed routinely through the Rheumatic Fever program received medication, four cases were referred from area hospitals, and two children were referred to Children's Hospital clinics for evaluation.

Fifty-nine patients were seen at the Pre-Natal clinic, 39 at the Well-Child clinic, three at the VD clinic, 239 at the Immunizations clinics, and 25 at the Chest clinic.

Twelve positive reactors to the TB screen testing at a local industry have been referred for x-rays and chest clinic appointments, and 37 home visits were made.

The nurses made eight school visits in March, immunizing 108 students at Derby, 70 at Ashville, 65 at Scioto, 40 at Walnut, and 17 at the Brooks-Yates School.

The nurses pointed out that 97 referrals to the vision screening program were completed in March.

"For this number we are grateful to the parents who took the time and interest to acknowledge the screening, its results, and to comply with our request to seek a complete visual exam and also to return the referrals to our department," they said.

The Board decided to check the legality of implementing a $1 service charge for immunizations.

Lack of response to a planned meeting between the Board of Health, Health staff, and administrators of county schools may force cancellation of the discussion that was to have dealt with school health programs.

Letters were sent to 18 school administrators March 16 in an effort to form the meeting. However, only two replied as of the Tuesday meeting date.

Board members voted to wait until April 12 to decide if the meeting should be held. At least six persons from the schools would be needed for an effective discussion, they said.

Much time was spent in discussion of problems associated with the Pickaway County landfill, operated by B and E Inc. The conditional landfill operators' license issued to the corporation is subject to Board review after midnight tonight.

The next meeting of the Board of Health is scheduled for 8 p.m. April 27.

Bad Check Charge Dismissed

The Pickaway County Prosecutor's office Tuesday moved to dismiss charges against Bill Alexander, Columbus.

Alexander had been charged with passing a bad check in the amount of $2,952 at the auction of the Edwin Walters estate in September, 1975. The prosecution agreed to move for dismissal because restitution had been made and witnesses failed to positively identify the defendant. The motion was granted.

Representing the prosecutors office were Richard Gerhardt, the prosecutor, and his assistant, Al Sedlack. Counsel for the defense were Clifford Spohn and S. Frederick Zeigler of Marion.

The case was tried by Common Pleas Court Judge William Ammer without a jury. Kenneth Robbins, Circleville attorney, had filed the affidavit against Alexander for Alice Walters, executrix of the estate of Edwin Walters.
